Thousand Springs Water District to Hold Annual Meeting

The Thousand Springs Water District 130 annual meeting will be conducted Tuesday, Feb. 6, in Jerome to elect a water master and adopt resolutions and a budget for the upcoming year. All members are encouraged to attend.

The meeting will begin at 2 p.m. at the Idaho Department of Fish and Game Regional Office meeting room, 319 S 417 E, Jerome, located off Highway 93, 1 mile north of the Flying J.

Prior to the annual meeting, the Idaho Department of Water Resources will conduct a public hearing at 1 p.m. at the same location regarding the proposed abolishment of the West Water Measurement District. All diversions previously in the measurement district are now under the jurisdiction of either Water District 130, or Water District 140, which is situated in and around Cassia County.

Water District 130 includes ground water diversions north of the Snake River within Gooding, Jerome, and Minidoka counties and portions of Lincoln and Blaine counties, and spring diversions in the Thousand Springs areas.
